

Building

You are going to write an informative text.

The idea for your informative text is 'building'.

You might write a news article reporting on the building of a new physical thing such as a building or bridge or sculpture/artwork of significance.

You could write a report for a journal on what you have found out about the difficulties or benefits of building something by yourself or by hand.

You might write a 'how to' guide for building the ideal friendship or physical object.

Think about

- the central idea or focal point of the informative text
- the logical sequence to report the information
- the conclusion.

Remember to

- plan the sequence and content of the information
- write in sentences
- look at your choice of words, spelling, punctuation and use of paragraphs
- check and edit your work when you have finished writing.
